

After Ever After

A HALF-HOUR COMEDY

Happily Ever After Doesn't Just... Happen!

After a whirlwind romance and light-speed nuptials, our modern Cinderella and Prince Charming settle into a “quaint” 2-acre castle in the Hollywood Hills. And what do they discover? — A fairytale wedding does not guarantee a fairytale marriage.

And love at first sight only gets them so far before Cindy and Dash have to face the rough and raw realities of matrimony. And let’s face it, when Cindy married the Prince of Svetlandia she jumped right into the maw of a relentless social media monster. Like it or not, she’s now the yardstick by which all would-be-princesses will measure their hum-drum lives.

As their relationship comes under Kardashian-level scrutiny, the question on everyone’s mind is: do these delectable darlings have a chance at true love?

We’ll find out together as we watch and wait... for the other shoe to drop!

THE SHOW

After Ever After

CINDY RELLA: To set the record straight, she didn't run from the ball because it was midnight, but because the prince was about to kiss her and she had just thrown up in her mouth. I mean, put yourself in her... shoe. Yeah, the prince is super hot, but how can she be sure he's the one? She was so desperate to escape her crappy family, she could've fallen in love with a hamburger.

PRINCE DASHIELL CHARMING: With the weight of an entire country looming in his future, Dash is totally image-obsessed. His media-fed ego makes it nearly impossible for him to comprehend the bundle of insecurities that is his new wife. But that party-crasher stole his heart. And now that they've said their "I do's" he's thinking what we're all thinking: "Hope she's not just in it for the castle."

DARCY DAVIS: Every fairytale needs a narrator. Lucky for you, this one has Darcy! Host of On the Wall, the hottest infotainment show on the stream. She delivers the dirt on all things royal through the gleaming god of gossip, MIRI: On the Wall's flat-screen black mirror, who takes you deep into the drama. And let's be honest, you don't have an opinion until she gives you one.

FARRAH: Cindy's Godfather turned Godmother! According to our sources, Frank transitioned to Farrah just before Cindy's father died. She watches over Cindy and encourages her to take charge of her life - Who do you think lent her the dress and crystal stilettos?

And don't forget the RELLAS, Cindy's social climbing step family who won't hesitate to throw Cindy under the bus if it means getting in good with the royal family!
